This institution integrates the cross-cutting issues include Ethics, Human Values, Culture, Diversity, Nature friendly and sustainability to survive. As per the academic calendar and curriculum of JNTUG, this college also focuses on the Ethical values in students which cope them better for their sustainability. Various programmes like soft skills i.e. attitude of children, gender equity, women empowerment are included in the curriculum.

To develop the human values in children, the college included different types of courses such as environmental sciences, ethics and human values as per JNTUG.

Environmental Science in engineering courses covers various aspects like how to survive in the society and nature and the effective use of natural resources. It also helps the children to maintain friendly atmosphere among friends, relatives and society and nature. It makes the children to identify the problems in society and practically solve the issues.

Professional ethics and human values courses provide basic knowledge and understanding of behaviors and attitude of the other persons in the society. This helps the children to inculcate good values in them and grow up according to the nature and environment in the society. With this knowledge they gain the ability to face the life events and participate in different programmes effectively. And also to develop certain human nature and sustainability our college helps the students to join in NSS programme. It aims at inculcating the human values, ethics and social responsibility. Many programmes like essay writing, debate, elocution are conducted on the topic of human ethics to make them deeply involved in the human nature.

The institute also make the children to participate in plantation programmes, watering the plants, Swachh Bharat to make the social clean. This improves the household qualities which should be imbibed in everyone's life to sustain.

The college also offers courses on the 'Indian Constitution' to the students to learn Fundamental Rights and duties of citizen, gender equity, racial discrimination and knowledge on politics. Some video lectures are shown or displayed in the seminar hall to know the present society and problems. With this, student will get an idea on the present society and they can learn to behave according to the society. The college also conducts awareness campaigns of some special occasional days i.e. AIDS Day, World Environment Day, Human Rights Day to encourage the public to know their Rights and Duties.

The college also conducts programmes on Women Empowerment by exhibiting various activities and talents of women in making art crafts, playing games, employability showing that women are no longer less than men. Principal, Heads of departments and other women faculty coordinators conduct a meeting on women safety and No Ragging in the institution. Some prominent personalities also attend the meeting to guide the children about safety and security measures. The college is totally monitored by CCTV and effective security.

Students actively participate in all these programmes to develop their personality. All these activities make the students nature friendly and social friendly to sustain for longer time. And a good career guidance programme is also conducted by the principal and other coordinators to pave a good way to the future of the children.
